Committee of U. S. Physicians, After Secret Inspection, Favor Locating of Hospital at Gordon.

TO RETAIN McPHERSON

Erection of Hospital on Land Already Owned Is Part of Dawes Economy Program.

BY CLARK HOWELL, JR.,
Constitution Bureau,
Raleigh Hotel.

Washington, July 28.—(By Constitution Bureau Wire)—Camp Gordon may yet be retained by the government. Although the war department will not urge its retention as a military camp, it seems possible that the site will be kept as the location of a government hospital, to be built with part of the $18,000,000 appropriated by congress for the erection of hospitals under the supervision of the public health service.

It was learned today that the site has been offered to the health service with this purpose in view by the secretary of war and that a committee of government physicians have visited the camp for inspection purposes and has reported favorably to the assistant surgeon general, J. H. White, on the camp as a location for one of the hospitals to be erected. The visit of the committee was not disclosed by the health service officials.

Secretary Moves.
Congressman W. D. Upshaw was today requested to see Dr. White tomorrow morning in reference to the establishment of a hospital at the camp and the result of that interview will probably disclose the decision of the public health service as to whether or not it will urge the retention of the camp for hospital purposes.

It is significant that Secretary of War Weeks' order of several days ago to immediately dispose of six national army cantonments did not include Gordon and it is understood that in his report to congress he will urge the postponement of the sale of Camp Gordon for at least a year. It has been the policy of administration, since General Charles G. Dawes assumed directorship of the budget, to economize in every way practical, and Congressman Upshaw stated today, following an interview with General Dawes, he believes that the budget director will favor the erection of hospitals on land already owned by the government rather than purchasing new sites.

To Retain McPherson.
Cottrell's position with the possibility of Camp Gordon's retention is learned from the adjutant general that Fort McPherson target range will be retained. It was announced recently by the secretary of war that Fort McPherson had been designated as the training camp for the fourth corps area. Contrary to the general impression, this does not mean that the site will be used for a civilian training camp but that it will serve as a post at which to train newly enlisted troops.

City Should Be Remunerated, Declares Mayor. $190,000 Asked for Laying of Mains.

The federal government has denied Atlanta's claim for the $190,000 cost of laying water mains to Camp Gordon to serve that cantonment during the period of its usage, according to a communication received by Mayor Key Thursday from the war department claims board in Washington.

The letter from the federal body denies the right of the city to charge the government for water during the period of its usage, which was delivered to the edge of the camp during its occupation, but denies that there is any obligation on the part of the government to finance, or assist in financing, laying of the mains to the camp.

Senator William J. Harris and Congressman William D. Upshaw have been investigating the affair in Washington and, according to Mayor Key, until the present development, seemed hopeful of obtaining payment to Atlanta of the claim as made. Mayor Key said Thursday afternoon that the city would be unable to take further action in pursuance of the claim until conferences were held with the Georgia delegation in congress.

Mains Laid in 1917.
The mains to Camp Gordon were laid when the government requested them in 1917, and to reach the camp with an adequate water supply required extension of the city's water main length from Buckhead eastward a distance of six and one-half miles. Even the mains running from Atlanta to Buckhead were duplicated for the Camp Gordon service, it is pointed out, and were ordered untapped for any other purpose in order to give the camp the service it required, say the city officials.

Six Other Crops in Diversified Farming Plan Show Increase of 6,483,000 Acres.

Washington, July 28.—An unprecedented change in the ratio of the acreage devoted to leading crops in the cotton belt has been shown this year, the department of agriculture says, declaring that almost eleven million acres have been cut from the cotton, rice and tobacco acreages and slightly less than two-thirds of this acreage has been taken up with wheat, corn, oats, hay, potatoes and other crops. The larger part of the remainder of the land has gone back into pasture or is left idle. The net reduction of land in cultivation in the cotton states still leaves a larger acreage in cultivation, however, than before the war, the department states.

In the ten leading cotton states, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Tennessee, Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas, Oklahoma and Arkansas, the cotton acreage this year has been reduced 10,194,000 acres or 28 per cent; the rice 4,000,000 acres or 25 per cent; the tobacco 4,000,000 acres or 25 per cent; the sorghum 4,000,000 acres or 25 per cent; the wheat 4,000,000 acres or 25 per cent; the corn 4,000,000 acres or 25 per cent; the hay 4,000,000 acres or 25 per cent; the potatoes 4,000,000 acres or 25 per cent; the other crops 4,000,000 acres or 25 per cent.

Corn shows a gain of 4,521,000 acres, or 13 per cent; wheat 697,000 acres or 10 per cent; oats 740,000 acres or 13 per cent; hay 413,000 acres or 5 per cent; sorghum and millet 4,000,000 acres or 10 per cent; the cotton acreage this year has been reduced 10,194,000 acres or 28 per cent; the rice 4,000,000 acres or 25 per cent; the tobacco 4,000,000 acres or 25 per cent; the sorghum 4,000,000 acres or 25 per cent; the wheat 4,000,000 acres or 25 per cent; the corn 4,000,000 acres or 25 per cent; the hay 4,000,000 acres or 25 per cent; the potatoes 4,000,000 acres or 25 per cent; the other crops 4,000,000 acres or 25 per cent.

With ringing assurances from Herbert Clay, president of the senate, that he would fight to the last ditch the house proposal to put a prohibitive tax on Atlanta's season of grand opera and a general expression from senators indicating that this feature of the proposed tax law would meet a sure and speedy death when the bill reached the upper house, officers and directors of the Atlanta Music Festival association on Thursday expressed the utmost confidence that the ill-timed effort to choke "Georgia's greatest cultural asset" had been heard the last of to all intents and purposes.

As soon as the house refused to reconsider the vote by which it had gone on record as favoring the "canned music" diet proposed by Representative Lankford of Toombs, Senator Frank C. Manson, of the thirty-fifth district, took a determined stand to have the provision for a $2,500 annual tax on grand opera performances killed when it reached the upper house.

Washington, July 28.—(By the Associated Press.)—Acting with the approval of President Harding, Surgeon-General Cummings of the United States public health service today invited state health officers of thirteen southern states to meet in Washington August 4 to consider the situation in connection with reports of a threatened pellagra epidemic in parts of the cotton belt.

The health officers in response to the invitation were asked to meet in Washington August 4 to consider the situation in connection with reports of a threatened pellagra epidemic in parts of the cotton belt.

Surgeon General Cummings issued the invitations for the Washington conference today in a report to President Harding in response to the president's request, made Monday, for survey of the situation as found by the public health service and the Red Cross.

The president in his talk with Dr. Cummings today is understood to have called the attention of the surgeon general to statements by health officers in the southern states challenging the authenticity of the public health service reports. Dr. Cummings in reply told the president that the reports were based on a careful investigation conducted by the health service and on telegraphic reports from state health officers. These two sources, Dr. Cummings told the president, showed the increase in pellagra cases and the danger to the public health service in its statements.

PLAN DENOUNCED

Resolutions Urging Assembly to Create Tax Commission to Report to Governor Adopted.

Governor's Program Calls for "Tax on Prosperity of Georgia," Asserts One Speaker.

Adoption of resolution urging the legislature to create a tax commission to consider methods of taxation and report its recommendations to the governor not later than April 1, 1922, followed a bitter denunciation of Governor Hardwick's income tax plan at a meeting of 100 representative business men of Atlanta held Thursday afternoon at the Chamber of Commerce.

Although the resolution made no specific mention of the proposed income tax law, the general discussion preceding the introduction of the resolutions gave indication of a feeling of much dissatisfaction with the measure among the participants in the mass meeting, which had been called by Lee Ashcraft, president of the Chamber of Commerce. One speaker, W. E. Wimpy, characterized the income tax as "a tax on the prosperity of the state of Georgia."

Following adjournment President Ashcraft appointed a committee to convey the resolutions to the governor and local representatives in the general assembly, and to endeavor to obtain the concurrence of other interests in the sentiment of the resolutions. The committee is headed by R. C. Alston, prominent attorney. Other members are R. O. Parker, Walter Wood, W. B. Baker, and Bolling Jones.

Hasty Action Opposed.
In the action of the meeting in petitioning the legislature for the appointment of a tax commission, it was pointed out that the general assembly had not yet met and that before the issue can be submitted to the people at the polls, and any hasty action was held unnecessary and altogether inadvisable. Even if the bill succeeds in passing both houses of the state until the fall of 1922, and there is no crying need for immediate action, it was said.

The sincerity and earnestness of Governor Hardwick in advocating the substitution of the income tax plan for the present ad valorem system of taxation was not questioned.

Cochran was indicted Tuesday by the Fulton county grand jury on a charge of murder. Deputy Sheriff J. L. Two cars were captured by the officers and one is said to have belonged to Cochran.

Abolition of Farm Extension Work Serious Blow to Farmers, States Chancellor Barrow.

"If the general assembly of Georgia carries into effect the recommendation of the ways and means committee of the house reducing the appropriation of the state to the Georgia School of Technology from $125,000 to $119,000, it will mean that Tech will be forced to either close her doors entirely or cut her activities by half."

This was the pointed statement of Dr. K. G. Matheson, president of Tech, when informed by the constitution Thursday night of the action of the house committee.

At the same time over long distance telephone from Athens, Chancellor David C. Barrow, of the University of Georgia, declared that the action of the committee in recommending a reduction in the university's appropriation of from $95,000 to $91,000 was seriously crippling the state institution.

Blow to Farmers.
The chancellor also deplored the recommended abolition of farm extension work through county farm demonstrators working through the State College of Agriculture under the Smith-Lever act. He characterized this as a terrible blow to Georgia farmers.

Dr. Barrow stated that the university will not be forced to close on account of the smaller appropriation if the house approves the committee's action but he was of the opinion that the board of trustees will have to meet and revise plans for the future of the institution to meet the shrinkage in funds.

While officials of the other state educational institutions affected could not be reached for statements, it is known that the reduction in their appropriations will prove a serious setback.

Got No Increase.

"When the authorities of this institution," stated Dr. Matheson, "found out last year that the school had doubled its enrollment, we asked that our state appropriation be doubled."

The house granted this request and voted an additional $125,000 maintenance fund. The senate cut this to $100,000, but in the general assembly of the state at the last of the session, Tech was forgotten and received not a penny of increase.

"Refusing to be discouraged, we went out and raised $100,000 to continue our work."

Reduction of appropriations for all state educational institutions, and an attempt to fix the total expenditures for common schools at 50 per cent of the total income of the state, which was tentatively set at $5,500,000 as compared to $9,070,000 last year, were recommended by the appropriations and ways and means committee of the house Thursday.

The committee also went on record as favoring abolition of all farm extension work under the Smith-Lever act and rejected a suggestion tending toward strict economy in appropriations, which provided that this year's total expenditure made by the assembly should equal last year's total reduced by 20 per cent. A proposal for a similar reduction of 10 per cent to determine this year's total of appropriations was also disapproved.

The only appropriation which was increased was one which recommended that the Training School for Girls be given $50,000, an increase of $15,000 over last year's appropriation. Funds are allotted in 1922 to the state school for the blind, the Academy for the Blind, School for the Deaf and Training School for Boys remained unchanged.

Bureau Fight Lost.
An attempt to lower the appropriation of the bureau of markets below the 1920 fund resulted in failure. Some members favored the abolition of this body on the grounds that it was not essential and that funds annually appropriated for its operations could be utilized to more important activities.

Those favoring abolition of the bureau asserted that the bulk of the work of the bureau consisted of printing pamphlets which were periodically distributed throughout the agricultural territory, and that the work could be done by private establishments at a nominal price, thereby eliminating considerable expense.

The bureau was staunchly defended by other members, and the effort to reduce its appropriation was unsuccessful.

Solons Can Finish Business by Holding Evening Sessions, They Assert.

HOUSE MAY RECEIVE
MESSAGE ON "GAS" TAX

Enactment by Senate of New General Tax Act Predicted by Senator Thomas.

No extra session of the legislature will be necessary to complete the state's business this year, in the opinion of Governor Thomas W. Hardwick, President of the Senate Herbert Clay and Speaker of the House Cecil Neill.

Leaders in state affairs generally expressed confidence Thursday in the ability of the general assembly to work out all problems facing the state during the regular session, and expressed a desire to see the solons settle down to work in earnest with this end in view.

Speaker Neill and President Clay declared that a great mistake had been made in certain attempts to stampede the legislators into the belief that an extra legislative period will be necessary.

"I see no reason why the general assembly should hold an extraordinary session," said Governor Hardwick Thursday. "The house is now holding afternoon sessions, and next week, if such is necessary, it can convene in the evenings. As for the senate, it is up with its work, but should the calendar become crowded, sessions can be held in the afternoon."

Additional indications that no special session would be held, were the reports Thursday night that the chief executive is planning to send a message to the house urging the passage of the gasoline tax, which was defeated during the afternoon, when it was brought up for reconsideration, and the organized movement to delay any further consideration of the income tax measure until next summer.

Fight Against Passage.
The announcement that an effort was being made to delay the income tax act did not come as a surprise, for Senator John H. Jones of LaGrange, has led a determined fight against its passage, and in the senate he has amassed a strong following.

Those favoring later consideration of the measure take the position that other matters more vital to the state's interest may be taken up, while if the income tax is pushed, a long, furiously contested fight will take place in both houses.

In discussing the new general tax act, which was introduced by the house this week, Senator Jim Thomas, of the third district, predicted that it would be enacted by the senate, although several amendments would be attached. The agitation to bring about an extra session of the assembly has had as one of its foundations, the rumor that the senate would not pass the new act, but would adopt the measure of last year.

"There are, in my opinion, only two things which could cause an extraordinary session," said Governor Hardwick. "One of those would be the senate's failure to

Report Scoring Prison Conditions Is Foreseen

Result of House Probe to Come Out Soon—Statement Started at Executive Session.

That the report of the penitentiary committee of the house on its investigation of affairs at the state prison farm at Milledgeville will be unfavorable to existing conditions there and to prison officials was seen Thursday night after the committee held another session. Its report was partly formulated, and that portion of the report completed was said to be unfavorable to the present administration at the prison, and to the state prison commission.

The report will be completed at another meeting of the committee tonight, and will be ready to submit to the house some time Saturday or Monday.

In the event the report shows mismanagement of the prison's affairs, which now appears highly probable, a resolution will at once be introduced calling for the appointment of a special committee to have full authority to probe the prison situation to the very depths, it was learned Thursday. Members of the penitentiary committee who expressed determination to see light thrown on conditions at the prison farm and its management will strongly advocate the passage of the resolution.

Conducts Filibuster.
From the very beginning of Thursday night's session, which was executive, Representative E. M. Williams, of Walker county, maintained a filibuster against the formulation of a report, which would unfavorably involve prison officials. When the session opened he offered as a substitute report to the one which the committee had met to formulate a report which found no fault with prison officials and conditions.

The committee refused to accept the minority report because, it was stated, it had previously voted to formulate a report from a skeleton report which had been framed by a subcommittee appointed by Chairman Jones Perryman.

In speaking to the committee Chairman Perryman said:

"Heretofore the penitentiary committee has been known as a joke and had been the laughing stock of the state. This," he said, "was one of the reasons why it was so hard to defeat the Arnold resolution, which would have prevented the inspection of state institutions."

Chairman Perryman urged the members to use all their backbone in stamming to do what was right in adopting their report of conditions at the farm regardless of any political aspirations, friendships, alignments or anything else. He declared that the people will never be satisfied until the true conditions at the farm are made public in detail.

In 1790 only 29,000,000 pounds of tobacco was sold in the United States. Last year the sales reached 314,000,000 pounds.

WORK BY CONGRESS URGED BY HARDING

At White House Dinner, President Asks Leaders for Passage of Bills Before Recess.

Washington, July 28.—Passage of revenue, shipping board, appropriation and railroad legislation before the suggested summer recess of the house was understood to have been urged on house leaders by President Harding tonight at a white house dinner. The recess, under the legislative scheme on which there was an apparent agreement, is scheduled to begin between August 20 and 25. The president was told, it was said, that it would be possible to clear up the calendar of the legislation on which he urged speed by the latter date at the outside and that by pressure, the house might clean up its work and start a rest at the earliest time mentioned.

The vacation of the house was deemed likely to last about six weeks or until near the first of October. By that time, it was said, the president believed the plan will have got through with either the tax or the tariff bill and conferences to adjust differences between the houses could be started.

CUT IN EDUCATIONAL FUNDS RECOMMENDED

appropriations by the committee were Georgia Tech, the University of Georgia and the Georgia Normal and Industrial college.

Members of the committee from districts which have been known to profit greatly by work of county farm demonstrators working through the state college of agriculture under the provisions of the Smith-Lever act, bitterly opposed the proposed striking of the appropriation for agricultural extension work from the bill. They contended that it was unjust to deprive farmers and their families of benefits which have accrued from expert advice received from the demonstrators.

They also declared that many boys and girls derived a large part of their education from this source, especially those residing in remote rural districts and that it was manifestly unfair to take away from them one of the few privileges which they received in return for taxes paid by their parents.

Important Point.
An important point raised in this connection was whether discontinuance of the extension work fund would stop the fund from the national government to Georgia, which is added to the appropriation made by the state. Regardless of the effect of the committee's action in this respect, however, a majority concurred in the opinion that this work was a non-essential and should be treated accordingly, especially in view of the state's acute financial situation.

When the suggestion was offered relative to a 20 per cent reduction on last year's total appropriations, Mr. Dubose, chairman of the committee, declared that "this drastic action would mean that Georgia would have no educational institutions, since they are state schools, operated under the jurisdiction of the state, and must necessarily be supported and maintained by state finance."

Detailed Discussion.
Following failure of members of the committee to concur in the opinion that a general cut of some specified per centage on the entire list would be advisable, a detailed discussion on each institution of higher learning was necessitated.

Chairman Dubose stated to the committee that in an interview with Governor Hardwick, the latter had asked that the entire income of the state be estimated at a sum not exceeding $5,000,000, and that this taken by the committee as a working basis. Allowing this sum to serve as a working basis and acting on the agreement that 6 per cent of all revenue should be appropriated to common schools, the foundation of school appropriations was tentatively fixed at $1,500,000, the remaining half to be apportioned among all other items for which appropriations have to be made.

The first institution on the list was the University of Georgia, which last year had an appropriation of $55,000, this amount having been increased from $75,000. The sum of $55,000, the appropriation at present in effect, was reduced by the committee to $31,000. Several ex-Georgia men who were members of the committee spoke in opposition to this cut in funds, but "the deplorable situation of the state's financial affairs was pointed out by those who contended for the necessity for a reduction," not necessarily sweeping in character, but general in scope, which would insure saving of several thousand dollars from each institution.

Next under discussion was the summer session at the university. After a heated argument, the appropriation for the school's summer activities was fixed at $7,000.

General Cut Opposed.

The stand was taken by opponents of the proposed 20 per cent reduction on one and all alike, that such a course would be manifestly unfair to some institutions which had a much smaller attendance in numbers of students, and that consequently they would be placed in a very disadvantageous position because of the smallness of their attendance body.

Others opposing the reduction claimed that if a reduction were made now, the schools appear at the next session asking for special additional appropriations, pointing out that leaving the schools on the basis which has been allotted them in the past, will, in the long run, have considerable time and expense.

The action of the committee in recommending that 50 per cent of all income be appropriated to the school systems was in conformity with the statutory laws of the state which make this specification. Therefore, this action was merely upholding the present statute. It was pointed out.

A spirited debate ensued following a cutting of discussion of Georgia School of Technology. After heated arguments lasting over an hour, a compromise plan was agreed upon whereby Tech's appropriation was cut from $125,000 to $119,000.

Extension Work.
The extension work which is the operation of a corps of skilled agricultural experts in rural districts was the subject of much discussion, and assistance along scientific and technical lines to all engaged in agriculture, and carrying on and meeting skillful advice, was removed from the appropriation list entirely, thereby necessitating the abolition of this work, should the measure pass and become a law.

The college, which has a sum of $90,000 was allotted as its proportionate share of the state's educational appropriation.

In conjunction with the State College of Agriculture the sum of $35,000 was recommended to be appropriated for special scientific research work at present being conducted by the college. This work has nothing to do with the farm extension branch coming under the Smith-Lever act, but deals with visits to farmers, land and soil surveying, advice along scientific lines, aid in choosing fertilizer, and problems of deep import to farmers.

For the support and maintenance of the twelve district agricultural schools, the sum of $100,000 was recommended to be appropriated, making a total authorized expenditure of $180,000.

N. G. A. Fund Cut.
For maintenance and support of the North Georgia Agricultural college, the $30,000 appropriation at present in effect was reduced 5 per cent, making the sum recommended for appropriation $28,500.

A fight over the appropriation for the Georgia Normal and Industrial college, at Milledgeville, was waged, the result being a reduction of 5 per cent for extension work, or from $12,500 to $11,875. The college was recommended to be reduced 5 per cent in its appropriation, or from $100,000 to $95,000.

The following institutions were not changed in recommendations: Academy for the Blind, $40,000; School for the Deaf, $50,000. The only increase in appropriation approved was the granting of an additional $15,000 for the Training School for Girls. The sum allowed this institution was recommended to be raised from $35,000 to $50,000. This action was due to the fact that a petition was recently received from officials of the institution to the effect that, because of insufficient funds which can be received only from the state, they were annually forced to turn away many persons who have been consigned to their care. This institution is a home of correction and proper training for fallen girls from 12 to 18 years of age.

Supporters for the increase pointed out that with this slight increase, scores of girls could be cured of waywardness and would, when released, be good citizens, whereas, if they were turned away or placed in penitentiaries or other penal institutions, they would be a menace to the community in case they were ever released. They also declared that the lives of the girls would be forever blighted because of lack of proper spiritual and moral training which it is the purpose of the institution to give.

tinue the work of the institution. They cannot and will not take this course, again. The public is willing to help us in extending the work of the school, but it is a very regretful at being called upon to maintain the institution.

Need at Least $200,000.
"Tech cannot operate at its present standard with an appropriation less than $200,000 or $225,000 at least. If the assembly adopts the recommendations of the house appropriations committee, we will be forced to close the doors of Tech entirely or to cut the school's activities and usefulness by half. "It is useless for me to say anything concerning the wonderful work this institution is doing for Georgia and Georgians at this time. Everyone recognizes the splendid accomplishments of Tech. I will have more to say in a formal way after conferring with the authorities of the school."

Must Recast Plans.
"Of course it will not mean a closing of doors or a terrible disaster, but it will probably necessitate a meeting of the trustees in order that plans for the university's future may be recast to meet the financial shrinkage.

"The hardest blow, however, is the abolition of farm extension work through county demonstrators working through the State College of Agriculture. I do not mean that it will be the hardest blow to the university, but to the farmers of the state, who are already in bad condition and who will be denied the advantage of the help of the agents if the house approves the committee's action."

"I also deeply regret the fact that a reduction in our summer school appropriation has been favored. The school is growing rapidly and doing a splendid work, and curtailment of its activities to meet the smaller appropriation will hamper it greatly."

"The fact is," the chancellor concluded, "if learn of the general reduction of educational appropriations with deep and genuine sorrow."

FARMER CREDITS MEASURE TO PASS

Washington, July 23.—Bipartisan senate forces today cleared the way for passage, possibly tomorrow or early next week, of an agricultural credits bill embodying the administration plan to make the War Finance corporation the administrative agency.

By a vote of 10 to 2, the senate agriculture committee reported a new substitute for the Norris, Kellogg and other agricultural credits bill. The new measure presented by Senator McNary, republican, Oregon, had general backing of democrats as well as republicans and leaders on both sides said its passage was assured.

Besides authorizing the plan for furnishing of agricultural credits by the War Finance corporation, the committee bill would increase the authorized bond issue to two billion dollars and also authorize direct loans to producers and foreign governments.

Senator Norris, republican, Nebraska, today spoke at length again in support of his original bill and in bitter criticism of the substitute plan, which he, with Senator Ladd, republican, North Dakota, had opposed in committee. The Nebraska senator declared that all "sins" charged against the Norris bill applied with equal force to the substitute, which he said, proposed a "take-off" for bankers and would increase farmers' interest burdens.

Senator Lenroot, republican, Wisconsin, declared the new substitute was "in the real interest of the farmer" and of more benefit than the Norris bill. He deplored the "temper" he said Senator Norris had displayed, adding that Mr. Norris appeared "not in his usual normal frame of mind."

Disclosures regarding genesis of the administration legislation were made by Senator Lenroot, who said that after being informed that Senator Norris refused compromise, he, with Senator Kellogg, republican, Minnesota, held conferences with Secretary Hoover, of the department of commerce, and Director Meyer, of the War Finance corporation, which resulted in framing of the administration measure. The first suggestion to have the War Finance corporation take charge of issuing agricultural credits, Mr. Lenroot said, came from the "principal mover" behind the Norris bill, Mr. Lenroot said, was Carl Vrooman, assistant secretary of agriculture.

ROOF BLOWN OFF OFFICE BUILDING IN LOS ANGELES

Los Angeles, July 23.—An explosion at the office of the Los Angeles Gas and Electric company on Aliso street near the bed of the Los Angeles river, blew the roof off the building today and was reported to have injured a number of employees. Aid out from fire apparatus was called out.

NEW ORLEANS NAVAL STATION TO BE CLOSED

Washington, July 23.—Closing of the New Orleans naval station as soon as practicable in the interests of economy, was announced today by Assistant Secretary Roosevelt of the navy department. The repair and supply of vessels will be discontinued, Mr. Roosevelt said, but the buildings, machinery and other property will be preserved. The dry dock will be kept in condition for service, and the station supplied with a marine guard.

ADVISORY COMMITTEE OF GEORGIA BANKERS

Savannah, Ga., July 23.—(Special.)—At a meeting held here Wednesday, an advisory committee of the Georgia Bankers' association was organized. Courtney Thorpe, president of the association, presided. E. H. Mason, president of the National Bank of Brunswick, was named as chairman of the committee. Miller S. Bell, president of the Milledgeville Banking company, was elected vice president, and Haynes McFadden, secretary of the Bankers' association, was made ex-officio secretary of the committee. Following the organization, the policies of the organization for the coming year were discussed at length. When the meeting closed, those present were the guests of Mr. Thorpe at luncheon. Bankers were present from all sections of the state.

Cornerstone Laid Of New Library In Belgian Town

Louvain, Belgium, July 23.—(By the Associated Press.)—The cornerstone of the new library of the University of Louvain, planned as a gift of the American people to the people of Belgium, was laid today with elaborate ceremony here today.

The reading of a message from President Harding was a feature of the exercises which were attended by King Albert, who delivered an address preceding the laying of the stone, as did Cardinal Mercier, the prime minister of Belgium, former President Poincaré of France and Premier Caton de Wiart, of Belgium. The building to be erected will replace the world library of Louvain destroyed by the German army in its invasion of Belgium in 1914.

Atlanta Proposes Plan to Save Farm Of World War Hero

Outlines of a plan whereby aid may be given Sergeant Alvin York, who won fame by his capture of more than 100 Hun soldiers in the Argonne forest in 1918, were made public Wednesday by G. L. Cannon, of 322 Central avenue, of Georgia. York is about to lose his farm because of his refusal to commercialize his fame through the movies, lectures or vaudeville.

Mr. Cannon's proposal includes the plan for every man, woman and child in the country to give 10 cents toward a fund which will be presented to Sergeant York as a token of the gratitude of the American people. "A million dimes means $100,000," says Mr. Cannon, "and it would take very long if everybody would help. I start off with three dimes for myself, my wife and baby."

COUNTY AGENT WANTED

Turner Farmers Oppose Legislation Against Agents.

Ashburn, Ga., July 23.—(Special.)—The farmers of Turner county in a mass meeting at the courthouse Tuesday voted overwhelmingly for employment of another demonstration agent for the county. They also passed a resolution that the county representative be instructed to use his influence against the movement to cut off the appropriation for farm demonstrators.

The arguments in favor of the move to get a farm demonstrator set forth that the farmers of the county are alive to the real situation, and the need of changing from the exclusive planting of cotton. It was argued that the move to put a creamery in the county and to begin dairying on a large scale would require a great deal of study. A great many points, including the buying of the right kind of cattle, feeding, and the right handling of the milk will need expert instruction, it was declared.

It is expected that the county officials will take up the matter at once and endeavor to have a man on the job by early fall. The county was recently relieved of the tick quarantine and a number of the most progressive farmers are planning to bring in thoroughbred cattle.

TRAIN HITS AUTO, ENGINE CREW INJURED

South Bend, Ind., July 23.—D. L. Flynn, Elkhart, Ind., fireman, was fatally hurt, and A. J. Johnson, engineer, was severely injured, as a result of a collision between a passenger train and a heavy automobile truck at New Carlisle, Ind. The locomotive, with ten mail, baggage and passenger coaches, were derailed as a result of the impact and although many passengers were bruised, none was seriously hurt. The truck driver escaped by jumping.

COMMITTEE FAVORS ALLIED DEBT BILL

Washington, July 23.—Favorable report on the administration bill giving the treasury blanket authority to conduct negotiations for funding of the allied debts, was ordered today by the senate finance committee. It carries a committee amendment requiring that the funding be completed within five years.

Senator Walsh, democrat, Massachusetts, offered two amendments which were defeated by a vote of six to four. Senator La Follette, republican, Wisconsin, voting with the democrats. The first would have required senate ratification of each funding arrangement by a majority vote. Upon its defeat, he proposed that the negotiations be submitted to the senate for information and was again voted down.

Secretary Mellon at the hearings, prior to the executive session, opposed submitting the negotiations to the senate except in executive session and then only for its information as a publicity of the terms arranged with one nation might embarrass negotiations with others.

POSTPONE ACTION ON DEBS PARDON UNTIL RETURN

Washington, July 23.—Submittal of a report to President Harding concerning a pardon for Eugene V. Debs, socialist leader, imprisoned at Atlanta for violation of the espionage laws, will be deferred until after the president returns from his ten days' visit to New England, Attorney General Daugherty said today.

Mr. Daugherty declared that his study of the case had progressed to the point where he could dictate recommendations for the president's consideration in a short time, but that he would withhold making a report until after the president's return.

EXPECT BANK OF GRAY TO REOPEN SHORTLY

Juliette, Ga., July 23.—(Special.)—The directors and stockholders of the Bank of Gray, which closed its doors the latter part of April and was immediately taken over by the state banking department, expect to reopen that institution within a few days.

Money raised by the stockholders together with that collected on notes and overdrafts is sufficient to authorize the state banking department to hold out hope that the bank will open again soon. Liquidating Agent E. R. Johnson has given out checks to those who held preferred claims for the full amount due the holders.

HOME OF JEFFERSON IS OFFERED FOR SALE

New York, July 23.—Reports that Monticello, the home of Thomas Jefferson, near Charlottesville, Va., is on the market, were confirmed today by Jefferson M. Levy, former congressman and present owner of the historic estate. Mr. Levy said upkeep costs had become too burdensome and that he would sell Monticello provided he could find a purchaser "deemed able and worthy to become the owner of such a shrine." He said he had made efforts to have the government buy the estate as a summer home for presidents and that he would be willing to sell Monticello to the government for $500,000. He values the estate at $1,000,000.

WIFE OF GEORGIA SENATOR HOSTESS AT PICNIC PARTY

BY CLARK HOWELL, JR., Constitution Bureau, Raleigh Hotel.

Washington, D. C., July 23.—(By Constitution Bureau.)—Mrs. Thomas E. Watson, wife of the junior senator from Georgia, yesterday was hostess at a picnic at which John and Calvin, Jr., sons of the vice president and Mrs. Calvin Coolidge, were the guests of honor.

Mrs. Watson was visiting her two granddaughters, Miss Georgia Watson, of Thompson, and Miss Georgia Reed, of Atlanta, for whom the party was arranged. The party of little folks motored out to Rock Creek park, one of the most beautiful natural parks in the world, where they romped and frolicked under the shady oak trees, participating in all the joyous games of youth before being served a delicious picnic dinner on the banks of a trickling little stream which runs through the park.

DISARMING MEET DATE DISCUSSED

Washington, July 23.—(By the Associated Press.)—Informal negotiations over the date for the disarmament conference were begun here today with the American government suggesting selection of a time not later than Armistice day, November 11.

Definite replies are yet to be received but unofficial information here seems to indicate that some of the other powers will prefer a later date and that several diplomatic exchanges may be necessary before a unanimous agreement is reached.

The question of a meeting time was discussed by Secretary Hughes during the day with the British and Japanese ambassadors and the Italian charge here. China and France are to be consulted in the near future, though it is emphasized that there will be no disposition to press for a decision until each of the parties to the conference has had time to study the situation thoroughly. The British ambassador Sir Auckland Geddes, is understood to have suggested that a date later than November 11 be selected unless a preliminary conference is to be held at which the dominion premiers can be present. Such a preliminary meeting would be possible, in the view of the British government, late this summer when the premiers, now in London, are on their way home for the convening of their parliaments.

No formal comment was available from American officials regarding such a proposal or concerning the statement emanating from official circles in London today that a preliminary meeting would be held within six weeks at some Canadian city or in some American city other than Washington. The general impression here was that this government hoped confidently to overcome the British objection without the necessity of a separate conference.

Japan is said to feel at a disadvantage because of the time that would be required for her delegates to reach Washington but officials here believe she will consent to the decision as to the next move in the governor's fight to avoid arrest. Springfield on indictments returned against him last week. Tenets from the state capital Post Sheriff Meater will refuse to come to Chicago.

ILLINOIS GOVERNOR ELUDES NEWSPAPERS

Chicago, July 23.—Governor Len Small, after changing hotels last night to avoid newspaper men, resumed his conferences today with lawyers and associates "somewhere in Chicago."

The governor's whereabouts continued to be a mystery, although it was reported today a conference was being held at the home of a friend, Albert Pink, his chief counsel, disclaimed all knowledge of the governor's whereabouts this morning.

A man who attended yesterday's meeting said today the governor and his legal advisers had reached a decision as to the next move in the governor's fight to avoid arrest. Springfield on indictments returned against him last week. Tenets from the state capital Post Sheriff Meater will refuse to come to Chicago.

go to serve his warrant even if the governor should surrender to Charles Pittamoria, general superintendent of police, have apparently ended discussion of that tentative plan.

METHODISTS PLAN BIG CAMP MEETING

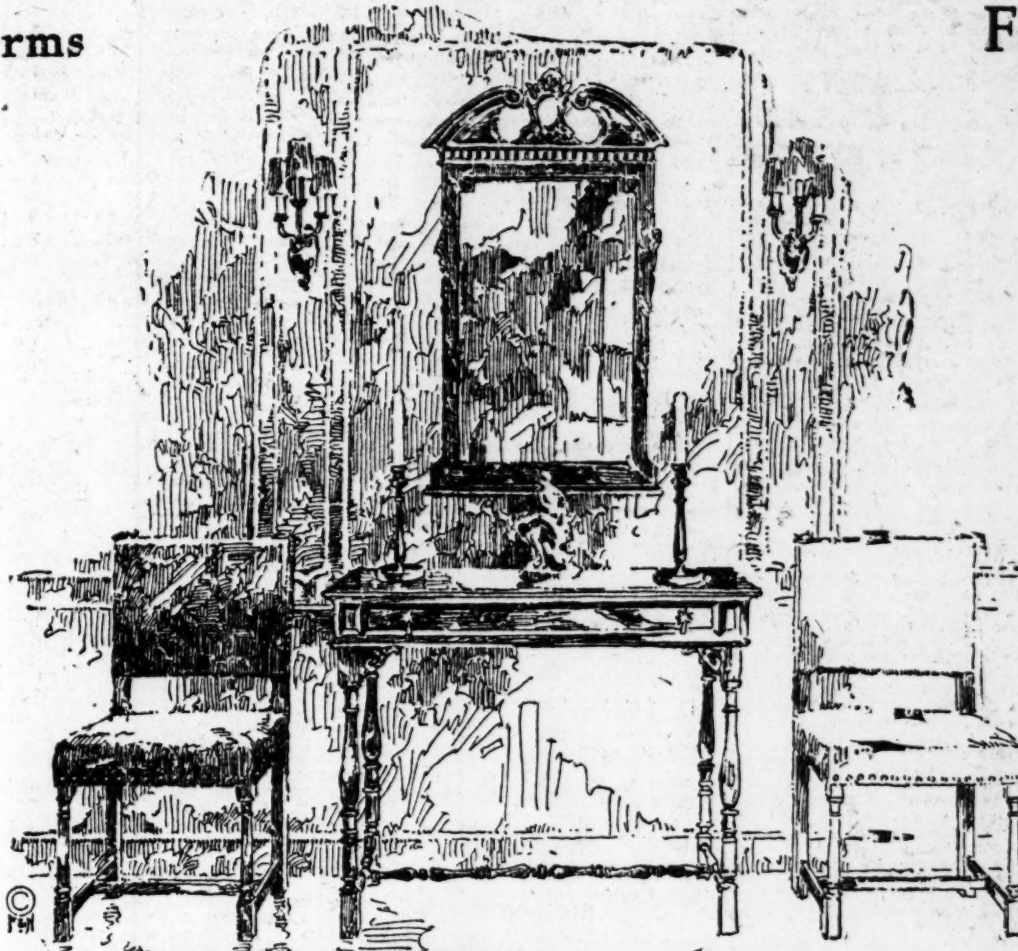

Lawrenceville, Ga., July 23.—(Special.)—Extensive preparations are being made for one of the largest annual meetings ever held at the old Lawrenceville Methodist campground, to begin Wednesday night, August 17 and continue until the following Wednesday. The service will be in charge of the pastor, Rev. Henry H. Jones, assisted by Drs. B. F. Frazer and S. R. Belk, of Atlanta.

It appears likely that every tent will be occupied. Special music will be had for the children, Saturday and Sunday. This campground has been in use eighty years, and is centrally located between Atlanta, Athens, Covington and Gainesville. It is only two miles north of Lawrenceville on the Gainesville road. Little Helen Smith, the 6-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Smith, of Thomasville, gave a reading, "The Industrious Hen." She was followed by Cornelia Turner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Turner, of Millen, whose voice disclosed rare dramatic power in the rendition of "The Counter Sign Was Mary."

Little Miss Janet Koser, attractive little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Koser, of Macon, Ga., made quite a hit with her character song in Japanese costume, "So Long Oolong."

Little Caroline Faber came next with a dissertation upon the "Wherefore of the Crooked Man," that won many pleasant comments. Little Miss Faber is the 6-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Faber, of Albany, Ga. Her sister, Miss Regina Faber, also showed histrionic talent in her selection, "Greedy Bessie."

Little Helen Smith's second appearance elicited much applause when she gave an interpretative dance, "Sunshine." Her infantile loveliness enhanced by the rhythm of her graceful evolutions.

"Butter Cup," "Forget Me Not" and "The Wood Tick" were selected readings by Christine Williams, young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Williams.

Pantomime numbers by little Virginia Turner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gaynor Turner, of Atlanta, displayed the rare interpretative power of a very charming child.

Mrs. McCarty to Receive Checks For Music Club

All applications accompanied by check for tickets for the full course of the All-Star concert, Series Intime, and memberships for the Atlanta Music club must be sent at once to Mrs. Rucker McCarty, 795 Peachtree street.

The Atlanta Music Study club will sell no tickets for the all-star series except in conjunction with the Series Intime and club membership. After the list of 500 members is filed, patrons who wish to become members and buy both series of concert tickets may do so by paying the regular schedule of prices, which will be $13 per season ticket for the all-star series, and $10 per season ticket for the Series Intime, this latter including club membership.

Applications are now being received by Mrs. Rucker McCarty, 795 Peachtree street. Patrons are urged to send in their orders as soon as possible, as the limited number of special rate tickets will soon be gone and the complete list of concert tickets will cost more. As the seating capacity of Eggleston hall is also limited, members and prospective members are urged to send in their applications for the Series Intime if this series alone is desired.

In applying for two full memberships, including two season tickets to both the All-Star and the Intime series, send check for $16 to Mrs. Ewell Gay, 117 East Seventeenth street, reserving $10 of the $25 (special club rate) until the sale of season tickets for the All-Star concert series, in September, when this $10, plus war tax on same, is to be paid to the Atlanta Music club bureau for two season tickets in arena or dress circle of the Auditorium.

In applying for one full membership with all concert privileges, send check for $10 to Mrs. Rucker McCarty and reserve $5 plus war tax of 50 cents, for one season ticket in arena or dress circle of the Auditorium. All applications must be accompanied by the complete list of concert tickets to the Atlanta Music club.

The first 500 patrons who order their tickets will receive from Mrs. McCarty an official receipt numbered in order of receipt, which will entitle the holder to special rate for season ticket to All-Star concerts when presented at the Atlanta Music club in September, with $5 plus war tax for each seat called for in official receipt.

The cards of club membership and the season tickets for the Series Intime will be sent out by Mrs. Gay upon application.

UNTHINKABLE!

The so-called "income tax" bill, which is pending before the assembly, and which is not an income tax bill in the sense the public would assume such a proposed tax would or should be imposed, is, in reality, a proposed direct tax upon labor; and in that particular alone is unsafe, unsound and unjust.

The proposition to levy an unlimited duty upon the gross earnings of corporations, plus another duty upon the output of mill and factory, is striking at the very vitals of the laboring man who must suffer most at any stagnation of industry.

Such a proposition, written into the organic law of the state is unthinkable. To illustrate, many cotton factories, not only in Georgia, but throughout the country, are today, and have been for months, operating at a dead loss incident to the world-wide depression in trade.

We have continued production solely for the purpose of providing means for the sustenance of the labor that depends upon their operation.

Their output is being sold in some instances below the actual cost of production, the mills operating when it would have paid them to shut down. The aggregate loss of such operation by the mills of Georgia alone has run into the hundreds of thousands of dollars, but they have continued to produce that their labor might not be forced to endure the hardship and suffering that would have been entailed had they closed down.

Now, on the theory that this proposed production tax had applied this year the mills would have been forced either to shut down or to pay tax for the privilege of running at a loss to keep their labor employed.

Under such a condition the state would be placed in the heartless and indefensible attitude of forcing hardship, if not starvation conditions, on labor.

Shut down production, and idleness of labor is the direct result. Idleness of labor means not only hardships for tens of thousands of Georgia's citizenry, but it means a general turmoil in every correlative line of business—an economic disruption that strikes in one way or another, at every hearthstone in Georgia.

That is what any measure means that seeks to write into the constitution of the state a mandate that corporations shall pay, subject to annual legislative temperment, a tax upon gross—not net—earnings, and upon production, regardless of whether there are any net earnings or not.

It is one of the most radical measures ever proposed for enactment, and one that, if enacted, would result in the closing of factories all over the state.

LICENSING CRIME.

The deadly weapon section of the general revenue bill as it has been approved by the house and sent to the senate, puts a premium upon crime by licensing the selling of instruments most commonly used in the commission of crime. It provides that each dealer in "pistols or in toy pistols which shoot cartridges, or who deals in pistol cartridges, or rifle cartridges, dirks, bowie knives, or metal knucks," shall pay an annual license of $25 in cities of less than 10,000 population and $50 in larger municipalities.

As prevalent as crime is in Georgia, with shootings and stabbings and foot-pat robberies occurring every day, and with the docket of almost every criminal court in Georgia congested with cases of murder, attempted murder, assault with deadly weapon, etc., just why the state legislature should want to license the selling of pistols, dirks, bowie knives and brass knucks at all is hard to understand.

It is worthy of note, too, that the measure makes it cheaper to kill in the country than in the city.

The state should not recognize the right of any man to sell murderous weapons, such as hip-pocket pistols, knives for stabbing and brass knucks. And it should make an example of every man found walking about with such weapons on his persons.

HARMFUL AND UNJUST.

It is stated now that "officials of the public health service admitted today (Wednesday) that there were no available figures on the status of pellagra in Georgia, and that in grouping Georgia with other southern states in the original report of "semi-famine" and threatened "pellagra epidemic" conditions throughout the cotton belt) the health bureau assumed it was reasonable to believe that the disease was on the increase there as it is reported to be in neighboring states."

This only goes to show the looseness of the process by which the federal health service arrived at a hasty and unwarranted conclusion upon which it based sensational and misleading reports that were manifestly unjust to this state as well as to the entire south.

As a matter of fact, there is no semblance of "semi-famine" condition in Georgia; and as for pellagra the official records of the state department of health show an increase of only three deaths from that disease over the fatalities from that cause during the corresponding period of last year.

There are many diseases more prevalent in other sections of the country than pellagra is in the south.

For every death from pellagra in the south there are many from tuberculosis in New England.

But would the federal health department be justified in sending out reports of "semi-famine" and "tuberculosis epidemic" conditions in New England because this disease is so widespread there?

By no means! Illustrative of the harm that has been done this state and section by the publication of the health bureau report. The Constitution is in receipt of the following wire from George Weymouth, editor of Farm Life, Spencer, Ind.:

"Editor Atlanta Constitution, Atlanta, Ga.: Daily papers of this section carry sensational stories from Washington to the effect that semi-famine conditions with pellagra epidemic impend through a large part of the cotton belt.

"We think these stories highly ridiculous, but would appreciate report from you as to actual conditions and prospects.

"Will outside help be needed? (Signed) "GEO. WEYMOUTH, Editor Farm Life, Spencer, Ind., July 25, 1921."

It is evident from Mr. Weymouth's inquiry that the southern states have been placed in a position before the world similar to that recently occupied by the famine-stricken provinces of China!

It is absurd and preposterous! The fact that the injury was not prompted by a spirit of malice, or by any intention to do harm, does not mitigate the injustice in it.

Now that the damage has been done the federal health bureau owes it to the south to do what-ever it can to repair the injury.

George Ade says he never purchased a case of whisky from a bootlegger. That may be a setback to a host of friends who were on the way to spend the week-end with him.

"No man's education is complete until he has seen America," says Lord Northcliffe, who might have added—"and filled his lecture dates."

Liquor-sharks may be numerous in Florida waters, but they don't seem to bother the fishermen any.

Reported loss of many fine bathing suits at seaside resorts. The women will carry them in their pocketbooks.

The faithful worker, who keeps pegging away, is still miles and miles from "the business depression."

It should give Lenin the cold shivers to contemplate the label—"Made in Russia: Starvation."

To "four years in prison" for German officers who fired on a hospital ship add: "With special privileges."

In the case of the Illinois governor it threatens to be a long time between arrests.

Though the governor of Illinois is in the "higher-up" class, the court rules that he's not above the law.

Briefs From Billville.
We sometimes doubt if a man can go to heaven and the legislature, too.

With taxes meeting us on all sides, we can hardly afford a button to put in the collection basket.

The president of the river bank informs us that the big fish don't associate with the little ones.

The minute we try to forget Trouble, Joy comes in with a bill for playing the fiddle.

We don't object to women smoking, since the men smoke both here and hereafter.

Firebrands of the Sun.
Blaze, sun! With all your fires—pelt firebrands from the sky
And burn the world to ashes in the red face of July!

Blaze on! We shall not weaken.
Or raise the usual row:
We'll never freeze next winter.
If you'll only roast us now!

Fire up! The tea trust needs you in its business every day;
A million wagons rumbling on their dripping Arctic way.

Burn all! We'll never weaken—
We're growlers anyhow.
But we'll never freeze next winter.
If you'll only roast us now!

Little Sermons.
Never mind how illusive the song of hope is, it's well enough if it keeps us dancing until we are unable to "swing corners."

"This alleged near-famine, in the southern section, said to be causing pellagra, has little foundation in fact," says the Thomasville Times-Enterprise. "Wonder how the Armenians and Chinese that have received bountifully of our funds will feel when they learn that we are about to starve to death!"

On the Way.
Like shadows are we flying
Where thick the shadows throng—
How brief the time for sighing!
How brief the time for song!

For all its love and light;
And what life is glory—
So swiftly comes the night!
We heed no solemn warning.

Beneath a morning sky,
But love scarce lingers "Good morning!"
Before Love weeps, "Goodbye!"

Time For All Things.
Asked why he left hell out of a recent sermon, Brother Williams replied:

"He's 'erthing to his season. Whilst I was a preacher! dat sermon de thermometer wuz in de nineties, an' hell spoke fer itself!"

His Philosophy.
"I've never worn out the knees of my trousers prayin' for rain," says the Village Deacon, "an' what's more, I ain't a-goin' to. Rain an' shine'll come when they're good an' ready, an' if it can't run the world 'em in, I certainly can't give directions to the other one."

His Philosophy.
The determination of one or two members of the legislative committee that recently investigated conditions at the state farm here, to move the prison commission and Warden Smith from office may spring from worthy motives but will only serve to make matters worse.

I have been a frequent visitor at the state farm for the past two years and have taken an interest in the welfare of the inmates and observe the conditions existing there.

Captain Smith has been at the state farm for almost fifteen years, he has the full confidence and respect of the citizens of this locality, and he impresses me as a most efficient public servant trying to do his duty to the best of his ability under conditions that effectively prevent good management of the institution of which he is in charge.

The buildings at the state farm are about as sorry as can be found in any state in the union where a penitentiary is maintained.

The equipment is inadequate and the funds allowed for maintenance and equipment are woefully inadequate for the purpose.

It is true that insane prisoners are confined there and at times when they are nearly normal, turned loose with the rest. Where are they to be kept—chained to a wall day and night?

If it is true that the place is infested with vermin, then let the legislature demand an explanation from the prison commission why they do it to correct such conditions. While we are on the subject of the prison doctor may I suggest to the eminent members of the legislature that it would be more economical to place both the boys training school and the state farm under the care of one physician than to have two as I understand is the method at present.

The state should provide modern and suitable buildings for its criminals, an adequate hospital for the tubercular inmates to replace the present outrage, and sufficient funds to operate the same, and then criticism will be justified if it is not properly managed.

JOHN RHIS, Miller'sville, Ga., July 25, 1921.

Breaking Down a Good System

BY JAMES A. HOLLOMON

The state senate has passed a bill which if it is enacted into law will completely disrupt the business methods that now obtain in the secretary of state's office.

Under the present system, a tax is sent to the applicant the very day his application reaches the secretary's office, and delays only occur around—that is, just before and just after the 1st of March, when thousands of owners wait until the last minute to make application.

Under the methods established by Secretary McLendon, all clerks who handle money, or anything akin to money, are under bond.

Under this method, those clerks who handle the receipts, whether coming through the hand or delivered to the office by mail, are not permitted to deliver tags, but the handling of the tags is in the hands of clerks who have nothing to do with the money.

In other words, under his plan, responsibility is definitely fixed, and a complete and exact record is kept by one set of clerks of the cost of the state's great deal of unnecessary money, and accomplished no good purpose.

HEALTH TALKS

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

THE DRAINAGE TRAP.
When the patient complains of dyspepsia or stomach trouble a wise physician seeks rather for trouble in the kidneys, lungs, heart or throat.

In reporting observations made in the analysis of the contents of the fasting stomach, Drs. Lermann, Rehfuess and Hawk, of Philadelphia, mention that in the last 400 analyses the microscope showed pus present in 147 instances. Now it is certainly abnormal to find pus cells in the stomach. There are but few diseases of the stomach itself which might give such evidence, say syphilis, tuberculosis, cancer, etc.

They append this interesting comment to the report: "The fasting stomach can be considered as a drainage trap which collects much of the material draining from the post-nasal, oropharyngeal and even the respiratory tracts, and the material is not removed by the stomach during the digestive period (that is, in the analysis of gastric contents)."

It is interesting to note that the pathologists found pus cells in over one-third of all the fasting stomachs.

I find it is practically impossible to express a physiological or medical condition in language which no reader can misunderstand. Let me assume from what I have just quoted that this is an argument for the use of laxatives.

Better the Lady's Named Tombs.
A correspondent of the Lynchburg Virginian dots the notable beauties at Alleghany Springs and among the number was a study of the Georgia beauties: Miss K—T—, a niece of a distinguished Georgia ex-senator, was a very attractive and the spouse of many eyes and the recipient of many compliments.

Miss A—R— (the belle of Georgia), a perfect Babe, radiant in smiles and resplendent in a magnificent toilette.

Miss L—O—, a vivacious and attractive belle from Savannah, who danced with infinite ease and whose company was much sought.

Miss B—, had legions of admirers. We always feel proud of our Georgia young ladies (and we mean all of them from the mountains to the seaboard). Their beauty, grace, modesty and refinement ever causes them to be attractive and they take the position as belles in whatever society they enter.

Schalk, Collins, Kerr and Gleason Refute Points
in Bill Burns' Story.

Chicago, July 28.—The defense in the baseball trial rested its case tonight. The action was taken after five Chicago White Sox players, forced by law to abandon their team in the east and journey 900 miles to testify, had made statements from the witness stand which tended to disprove some of the most important points in the state's evidence against their former teammates. The defense was anxious to throw the 1919 world's series to Cincinnati.

Conflicting Stories.

Eddie Collins, Ray Schalk, Dick Kerr, Roy Wilkinson and Manager

William Gleason, of the White Sox, said he did not miss any of the trial because the seven former players of the team were at Redland Field, Cincinnati, practicing from 10 to 12 a. m. the day before the first 1919 world's series games. Bill Burns had testified that it was on this day and the following hours that he completed the alleged deal with the defendants whereby they were to throw games in order desired for $100,000, receiving $20,000 after each game.

Tomorrow the state will begin its rebuttal testimony with indications that it will call witnesses on Saturday and night sessions of court in the hope of getting the case to the jury next week or the first part of next week.

The testimony of the players who have been called by the state was given by the men for whom they were testifying was brief, each man being asked only a few questions by the defense attorneys who had subpoenaed them, thus forcing them to take the stand.

Manager Gleason said he left Chicago with his team Monday night, two days before the first game.

We reached Cincinnati about 8 a. m. and Mr. Gleason, and several of the Sinton hotel. A little before 10 o'clock the men went to Redland and were taken to the hotel and left to the hotel a little before noon."

Players at Practice.
Gleason said he thought Weaver was at practice with the other players, Risberg, Gandil, Williams, Jackson and Cicotte, the other player-defendants.
"They weren't in the Sinton then at the hours Burns says he talked with them," he charged. Tom Nash, defense attorney.
"I think not," said Gleason.
"I think he had to be with all the defendants were at practice as he had not missed any of them. Eddie Collins, Ed Delahanty, Ed Egan and Buck Kerr were sure all were present and Collins said he and Weaver left the Sinton together and went to the races together that afternoon.
Schalk then was called as a state witness.
"Did you see some of the defendants together in a room the evening before the trial?" he asked.
"Yes," he said.

Kerr Peeved. Dick Kerr was indignant over being called here for two minutes of testimony. "And I rode 900 miles on the hottest day of the year to say that, he muttered as he walked past the defense table, looking at them. The closing of the defense case was announced without warning."

The state tonight refused to say what witnesses it would put on tomorrow in rebuttal, admitting that it had been surprised by the defense move. Whether the defense will carry out its plan of putting on the defendants during rebuttal was not known.

This afternoon the defense presented hotel records to show that Chick Gandil was not living at the Windsor hotel during the 1919 world's series. Burns testified he conferred with him there.

WHAT ARE KRYPTOK BIFOCALS?

They are a combination of glass, allowing you to see both near and far with one solid glass. No removing your reading glass to see distant objects; no seams, lines or blisters to worry you or attract attention of others to your age. Absolutely invisible while on the face, they have proven a revelation to thousands who have come to us for them. Why are we successful with Kryptoks? Because we are extremely careful in the examination of your eyes, the correct grinding of the glass, and perfect adjustment of frames to each individual face, all of which is absolutely necessary to insure comfort and appearance. If you have Kryptoks bought elsewhere and cannot use them, bring them to us and we will find the trouble. Ask the better oculists or any of our patients what the Ballard service is to the public.
